

Alfredo Petrosino is full professor in computer science at the University of Naples "Parthenope", where he heads the research laboratory CVPRLab (<http://cvprlab.uniparthenope.it>).

He started his research activity receiving the M.Sc. in computer science at the University of Salerno, in 1989, under the supervision of the neural network pioneer E. R. Caianiello. Fellow researcher at the National Research Council (CNR) from 1989 to 1994, he later joined in 1995 the International Institute for Advanced Scientific Studies (IIASS) and, from 1996 to 2000, the National Institute for Physics of Matter (INFM) as Researcher. In 2000 he joined the National Research Council (CNR) as Researcher and in 2003 as Senior Researcher. In 2005 he moved to the University of Naples Parthenope as Associate Professor and from 2013 as Full Professor in Computer Science. He taught courses on Operating Systems, Image Processing/Computer Vision and Machine Learning since 1991 at the University of Salerno (1991-2006), Siena (1997/98), Naples "Federico II" (1999-2006), Naples "Parthenope" (2001-).

His research interests cover a broad spectrum of issues related to Computational Intelligence - neural networks and rough sets mainly - and Computer Vision, and participates in a variety of national and European projects. He is in the editorial board of Information Sciences, Pattern Recognition Letters and IET Image Processing journals, co-editing various other special issues on topics of actual interest of different journals like IEEE SMC, Image and Vision Computing, Parallel Computing. He is also the main organizer of the biennial Workshop on Fuzzy Logic and Applications (WILF) about computational intelligence topics since 1995.

He is Senior Member of the IEEE (Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers) and member of IAPR (International Association for Pattern Recognition).
